

PROJECTED ART for ART SLAM

Art at Work: Tacoma Arts Month

DEADLINE: October 25, 2010

Calling all South Puget Sound artists!

In celebration of the 9th anniversary of Art at Work: Tacoma Arts Month, the Tacoma Arts Commission is hosting an Art Slam on Wednesday, November 17, from 7 to 9 pm at the Rialto Theater in downtown Tacoma. This event was developed to provide an opportunity for local artists to view a sampling of their work alongside the work of their peers. It will also provide an opportunity for local collectors and art enthusiasts to see the art that is being produced in the South Sound region. Artists working in a broad spectrum of media, including visual art, music, dance, performance, and film, are encouraged to submit work.

What is an Art Slam? In a fast-paced format, a selection of work by local artists will be projected on the big screen, set to a soundtrack of musical accompaniment. Live performances of spoken word, music, dance, and more will be interspersed between segments of the show. An accompanying description of artists' work and contact information will be included in a program. Artists of all mediums and genres will show their work, ranging from the very accomplished to the up and coming. Everyone presents their work in the same format. The Art Slam is a place for artists and art enthusiasts to gather and share their work in a non-competitive atmosphere. The event is meant to be a fun, relaxed and inspiring evening, reminding us why we create art in the first place. A reception will follow the event. This event is free and open to the public.

In addition to the live November 17 show, the Art Slam will be available for free public viewing on Click! ON Demand's TacomaArt & Culture channel through December 2011. ON Demand is accessible to anyone who is a Click! Cable TV customer with a digital receiver.

The Art Slam is open to current residents of the South Puget Sound region. You are encouraged to submit work created since 2007. There is no fee to enter work into the Art Slam. Submissions must be received by October 25, 2010.
