

Are you ready for retirement?

Your Nationwide Personal Retirement Consultant (PRC) offers financial planning as an included benefit. A PRC can help you understand your income needs and whether you have the resources to meet them.

The Retirement Income Analysis service can provide you with a snapshot of what your income might look like before and after retirement. Based on the information you provide, the analysis can give you details of your current situation and help you answer questions such as:

- How does retirement compete with other goals?
- When should I draw Social Security?
- What is the best pension payout option for me?
- What assets should I begin to draw from first?
- How will inflation affect my retirement income?
- How will my income be taxed in retirement?

Our Retirement Income Analysis is quick and easy. Plus, you'll have the opportunity to talk with a credentialed retirement specialist who works on salary, not commission. Best of all, the service is available at no additional cost for participants of retirement plans administered by Nationwide.
