WHEREAS the City of Tacoma continues to experience large numbers of individuals and families who are homeless due to such factors as job loss, family crisis, substance abuse, economic reasons, mental health issues, and loss of temporary housing, and

WHEREAS the pattern of stagnant and declining wages and shortage of available affordable housing has also contributed to the rising numbers of homeless individuals and families, and

WHEREAS the homelessness crisis is occurring in communities throughout the West Coast, causing cities like Seattle, Washington; Portland, Oregon; and Los Angeles, California, to declare states of emergency in order to provide emergency services and shelters for the growing number of unsheltered homeless individuals and families, and

WHEREAS point in time counts conducted in the greater Tacoma area have identified 1,997 homeless persons in year 2012; 1,303 in year 2013; 1,474 in year 2014; 1,283 in year 2015; 1,762 in year 2016; and 1,321 in year 2017, and

WHEREAS the supply of available temporary and permanent support housing for homeless persons residing in Tacoma is inadequate to meet demand, resulting in long lines for emergency shelters (the wait list for some shelters is as high as 80-90 people per night), long waits for support housing, and a rising number of unsheltered households, and

WHEREAS, on any given night, homeless encampments in Tacoma may be occupied by 100 or more persons, and

WHEREAS homeless encampments occur without appropriate sanitation facilities or proper trash receptacles and often become contaminated with garbage, human waste, used needles, and dirty dressings, resulting in occupants facing serious health and sanitation issues, and

WHEREAS conditions in homeless encampments are personally stressful and expose occupants to communicable diseases like tuberculosis and respiratory illnesses, violence, malnutrition, and harmful weather exposures and exacerbate common conditions such as high blood pressure, diabetes, and asthma because there is no safe place to properly store medications or syringes, and

WHEREAS behavioral health issues such as depression or alcoholism often develop or are made worse for people living in homeless encampments, and these conditions frequently co-occur with a complex mix of severe physical, psychiatric, substance use, and social problems, and

WHEREAS, according to the National Health Care for the Homeless Council, persons ". . . experiencing homelessness are three to four times more likely to die prematurely than their housed counterparts, and experience an average life expectancy as low as 41 years . . . ," and

WHEREAS health care services are not effective when a patient's health is continually compromised by street and shelter conditions, and inpatient hospitalization or residential drug treatment and mental health care do not have lasting impacts when the patient is returned to a homeless environment, and

WHEREAS conditions in homeless encampments that are dangerous to human health include: garbage that becomes a food source for vermin; vectors (organisms that transmit diseases or parasites) and related pathogens; lack of proper food storage and clean dishes that can facilitate the spread of food-borne disease; lack of sanitary facilities to dispose of human and animal fecal waste, which can lead to contamination of ground and surface water supplies and transmittal of disease; improper disposal of discarded medical and sharps waste; accumulation of combustible materials that can ignite; lack of poor hygiene which contributes to dental and skin problems; and the victimization of homeless persons by both sheltered and non-sheltered persons, and

WHEREAS these conditions arise from human-made events and are contributing to, and will continue to contribute to, significant human suffering, creating an immediate need to provide temporary aid and shelter for the homeless persons occupying these encampments, regardless of where in the City they may be found, and

WHEREAS the housing and homelessness crisis presents an existing and ongoing threat of significant harm to human health and life, requiring immediate action, and

WHEREAS residents of homeless encampments have needs that include the provision of social, public, and mental health services; stability; storage and safety; potable drinking water; solid waste disposal; and human waste disposal, and

26

WHEREAS many of these conditions can be mitigated through interim measures designed to meet the immediate survival and safety needs of those persons occupying homeless encampments, such as the provision of hygiene facilities, trash collection, sanitary facilities, temporary shelters, and outreach and gateway services within the encampments, and

WHEREAS the City Council finds that it is in the best interest of the public health, safety, and welfare for the City Council to exercise its police power authority to declare a housing emergency and to authorize an emergency program for establishment of temporary housing and aid stations to address basic humanitarian needs in areas with significant concentrations of homeless persons, and to authorize emergency contracts to provide aid and temporary shelter services at such locations; Now, Therefore,
