

INFORMATION REGARDING THIS NOTICE

The City of Tacoma is supplying this information sheet to assist tenants with understanding this notice. This information sheet is informative only and DOES NOT provide legal advice regarding your individual tenancy. If you need to obtain legal advice regarding your individual tenancy, please contact the resources listed at the bottom of this page.

What is a Notice to Quit for Waste, Nuisance, or Unlawful Business?

In this type of notice, your landlord is alleging that you have performed actions on the property that constitute waste, nuisance, or an unlawful business. The specific actions your landlord is concerned about should be identified in the notice. This type of notice terminates your tenancy after just three (3) days. Unlike some other eviction notices, the landlord is not required to give you any amount of time to fix the problem. The landlord is terminating your tenancy based upon the waste, nuisance, or unlawful business and simply requiring you to leave within three (3) days.

What is Waste?

In general terms, waste is a tenant's actions that cause substantial harm to the premises. Actions that constitute waste can be either purposeful—for example, removing fixtures or appliances—or waste can be caused by the negligence of the tenant—for example, allowing the premises to unreasonably deteriorate or decay because the tenant takes no action to prevent it.

What is a Nuisance?

Nuisance is the substantial and unreasonable interference with another's use of or enjoyment of their property. There is no exact or perfect description of nuisance that fits every situation. What is and what is not considered a nuisance is a question about the conduct that the landlord says happened. But in the end, the landlord is claiming that the tenant's conduct created a situation that prevents other tenants from peaceful enjoyment of their tenancies or property.

What is Unlawful Business?

Unlawful business is basically what it sounds like. Unlawful business is an action by the tenant on the premises that is against the law.

What Can I Do About the Notice?

Your options for this notice are limited. The landlord is not giving you the option of fixing whatever is happening to cause to waste, nuisance, or unlawful business. The landlord is asking you to leave within a short period of time. Generally, a tenant receiving a notice to quit can either vacate within three (3) days to avoid an eviction lawsuit, or wait until the court hearing on the eviction and argue that the tenant's action was not causing waste, nuisance, or unlawful business. If you have questions about your notice to quit for waste, nuisance, or unlawful business, or if you feel you were improperly given a notice to quit, DO NOT IGNORE THE NOTICE and contact the resources listed below to obtain information specific to your tenancy.
