I think one of the biggest issues we have in Tacoma is amount of people we having living without housing. I support Tacoma Housing Now in their efforts to address this problem. I think the city should use money from the CARES act to pay the bills of the people who are staying in the Travellodge right now. I also think a community land trust should be set up using properties that the city owns, but that we are not using. These would be good short-term, and long-term ways to help.
