Presentations

Effective Communications Committee Update – Luke Byram

Commissioner Byram reported that the Disability Advocacy award planning is coming along. They are considering adding another category for non-profit and for profit businesses. Discussion ensued.

Commissioner Holloway reported that he attended the West End Neighborhood Council. He stated that this is a good opportunity for the Commission to do outreach and share information.

Office of Equity and Human Rights – Andreta Armstrong

Andreta Armstrong, Human Rights Manager provided an overview of their work and rack cards that provide information on the complaint process. The Human Rights Commission reviews and hears complaints filed under the City's Anti-Discrimination Ordinance of the Tacoma Municipal Code. They study relevant community issues and submit conclusions and recommendations to the Tacoma City Council. In addition, they organize special committees that focus on areas of interest to the City of Tacoma residents. On behalf of the Human Rights Commission, they accept, investigate, and resolve complaints of discrimination in the areas of employment, housing, and public accommodations. Discussion ensued.

Commissioner Nyland provided a chart that he compiled showing the current figures that he has on housing, employment discrimination, and public accommodations investigations by type and year.
