Section 5 – Community Perceptions Data

This section discusses the perceptions and experiences of people who live and work in Tacoma. A combination of strategies, including focus groups and online surveys were used to gather feedback from community residents, community leaders, youth-serving agency personnel, educators and gang-involved individuals. This report section will cover the perceptions of community residents, leaders, and youth-serving agency personnel. Because of the amount of information collected, this section of the report is divided topically:

- Community resident surveys – Pages 97
- Community leader surveys – Pages 109
- Agency personnel surveys – Pages 117
- Public safety personnel surveys – Pages 125
- Comparative analysis – Pages 131

COMMUNITY RESIDENT SURVEYS
An online survey of community residents was conducted from August 2018 – November 2019, and 673 individuals responded to the survey. Responses from individuals who indicated that they do not reside in Tacoma (53) were excluded from this analysis.

Survey respondents were not a representative sample of Tacoma residents. Most community resident survey respondents are white/Caucasian (78.9%), female (71.9%) and between the ages of 25 to 44 (52.8%). Demographics of resident respondents are shown below.

Table 5.1 Race/ethnicity of survey respondents
Respondents ranged in age from 18 to 75 years of age. One-third (33.6%) were between the ages of 45 and 64. Fairly low response rates were obtained from individuals 18 to 24 years of age.

While Zip code boundaries do not match precisely with Tacoma neighborhood boundaries, they are close:

- One in five respondents (22%) live in Zip code 98404 (East Side neighborhood)
- 23% live in South End neighborhood (Zip codes 98418, 98444, 98445, and 98408).
- 26% live in West End or North End (Zip codes 98403, 98406, 98407, and 98465).
- Of respondents live in North End (Zip code 98403,
- 15% reside in Central neighborhood (Zip code 98405).
- 7% of respondents reside in South Tacoma (Zip codes 98406 and 98466).
- 4% of respondents reside in New Tacoma (Zip codes 98402 and 98421).
- 2% of respondents reside in North East (Zip 98422)
Fairly good coverage of survey dissemination was achieved, although responses from New Tacoma and North East neighborhoods were somewhat limited.

This is likely due to the method of dissemination of the survey, which was provided to neighborhood councils; Safe Streets Tacoma; the Ministerial Alliance; and other local civic, governmental and non-profit organizations. Some organizations were more proactive in disseminating the survey to their constituency groups than others.

Many survey respondents are married (55%) and have children (61.7%).
Neighborhood safety

Community residents were asked several questions about neighborhood safety. Most residents report that they feel safe or very safe in their neighborhood. However, a little more than one fourth of residents (27%) reported feeling unsafe or very unsafe.

!Bar chart showing residents' perceptions of safety in their neighborhood

Residents were asked if their feelings of safety in their neighborhood have increased and decreased over the past one year and three years. The most common response to these questions is that residents feel the same in their neighborhood. However, 30% of residents feel less safe or much less safe in their neighborhood than they did one year ago, and 32% of residents feel less safe or much less safe than they did three years ago.

!Bar chart showing community residents' responses to "Do you feel safer in your neighborhood than you did one and three years ago?"

It is of interest that the City of Tacoma conducted a community survey in January 2018. One finding from that survey is that white residents in Tacoma feel significantly safer than do black residents:

> The majority of Tacoma’s residents feel safe in Tacoma (85%), with 54% feeling somewhat safe and 31% feeling very safe. Black residents are more than twice as likely to feel “not very safe” in Tacoma (29%), compared to 10% of white residents and 4% of Hispanic residents. In total, 27% of residents or members of their households were victims of a crime within the past 12 months, of which 23% did not report the crime. Most commonly, people do not report crimes because they see it as a waste of time or that nothing would be done (City of Tacoma, 2018).
Residents were asked to identify the top three problems in their neighborhood. They were limited to three answers and provided with a list of possible answers covering a wide range of social issues and criminal conduct. They could also write in custom responses.

The top three responses were:

- Theft/burglary (53.4%)
- Homelessness (52.9%)
- Drug dealing/drug use (40%)

Small but significant percentages of respondents identified gangs/violent crime as top issues in their neighborhood:

- Violent crimes (shootings, murder) (12.6%)
- Gang activity (9%)

Other custom responses provided by residents include:

- Frequent gunfire in the neighborhood
- Sex offenders
- Kidnapping
- Halfway house
- People with mental health concerns that wander around in my neighborhood
- Abandoned vehicles and illegal dumping
- Prowlers in alleys.
To determine if concerns about gang activity, violent crimes and robberies are clustered in specific neighborhoods, the locations of community survey respondents with these concerns were mapped.

For the most part, residents with concerns about these issues in their neighborhood are dispersed throughout the community and located in every neighborhood. This mirrors the distribution of violent crimes such as robberies, aggravated assaults, and homicides. The greatest number of residents expressing concerns about gang activity are in the East Side. There is also some clustering of residents with concerns about gangs/violent crimes/robberies in the southern portion of the South End. Another small cluster of respondents with concerns about violent crimes/robberies found on the border of Central/New Tacoma.

Respondents were asked to rate the level of gang activity in their neighborhood. The most common response to this question (40%) is do not know. One in five respondents (21%) reported that gangs are active or very active in their neighborhood. One in four respondents (25%) reported that gangs are somewhat active. Only 14% of respondents reported that gangs are not active in their neighborhood.
Residents were also asked whether gang activity in their neighborhood has increased or decreased over the past year. One in five respondents (19%) reported that gang activity has increased in their neighborhood in the past year. The most common response to this question (40%) is “do not know.” A little less than half of respondents (46%) reported that gang activity has increased or stayed about the same. A very small percentage of residents (2%) reported that gang activity has decreased, and one in ten (11%) reported that there is no gang activity in their neighborhood.

Respondents with children were asked if they believe that their children are at risk of joining a gang. Most parents who responded to this question (95.7%) did not feel that their children are at risk for this behavior, but a small percentage of parents (4.3%) reported that their child/children is/are at risk of joining a gang. In contrast, over half of parents (57.3%) believe that their child could be injured by gang activity in Tacoma.
Community residents were asked to identify the top three problems caused by gangs in their neighborhood. One third of respondents (32.7%) reported that drug crimes are one of the top three problems in their neighborhood. Other top concerns were burglary (25.4%), theft (22.3%), and increased fear for safety (21.2%). Almost one-third of respondents (31.8%) reported that they do not know what problems are caused by gangs in their neighborhood. One in ten respondents (8.8%) reported that gangs are not a problem in their neighborhood.

Other custom responses to this question include:

- Prostitution
- Hear gunshots frequently, cannot assume it is gang activity
- Organized systematic home watching & robberies
- I hear ppl fighting near the local gas station often, but unsure if it is gang related
- Vehicle break-in
- Reckless driving
- Drive-by shootings multiple times a week at night.
- Hear gunshots often, don’t know where they come from, but we can hear them.
- I don’t know if there is gang activity in my neighborhood. I do know there is racial profiling going on in my neighborhood, according to the 'NextDoor' online message board.
- We have had gun battles between rival gangs in our neighborhood. Multiple in the last year.
- I don’t believe we have traditional "gangs" per se in our neighborhood, but we do have a TON of mail/property theft, trespassing, and sketchy characters wandering about. The police do NOT show up when called either and this emboldens the thieves!
• People perceived as potential gang members cruising/looking for what I assume are specific people, often shining a spot light in people’s faces to identify them.

• I see what appears to be copycat behavior

Respondents were also asked to identify the top three reasons that they believe gang activity exists in Tacoma. The top three responses included poverty (45.2%), family/friends involved in gangs (43.8%), and to feel loved/sense of belonging (30.4%).

Other responses include:
• Lack of enough police enforcement activity
• Gentrification/class structure in Tacoma
• Lack of representation in institutional structure in Tacoma, lack of embedded services in the community
• Lack of consequences
• Failure of the educational system.
• Affluent communities guard youth program access from poor/marginalized youth
• Increase in demand for illegal drugs draws suppliers. increased drug profits empower gangs selling them.
• Lack of institutional access and mentors to start small businesses, own property, access traditional financial instruments, readily respond to crises, become civically engaged or have power to make change in institutions that affect what happens on the streets
• Access to realistic means of maintaining one’s dignity and self-respect.
• Lack of good community involvement and family structure in the poor areas of Tacoma
Community residents were asked to select the top three things that they believe should be done about gangs in Tacoma. They could choose from a list of items or could write in a custom response. The top three responses to this question by community residents are youth programs/recreation (48.1%), mentoring programs (47.6%), and jobs/job training (39.5%).

Other custom responses include:

- All these things need to be done. Kids literally can walk into Walgreens, steal something, and walk out with no consequence. Along with being held accountable, these kids need to be taught how to be leaders in their lives.
- With weak family support, these kids need to feel empowered in other ways.
- Vote out elected officials that do not act in the best interest of Tacoma residents
- Young adults and their parents need living wage jobs, free healthcare, access to public transit, and permanent affordable housing
- Create a sense of belonging
- Youth needing to fulfill community service requirements, can be offered a path forward through community partnerships. The “Tacoma Greenhouse Project” formerly “Friends and Servants” is a model we can look to.
- We already know what causes gangs/criminality -- hopelessness, disenfranchisement, the inability to perceive a certain course as beneficial to one's self. The issues are systemic. Address that and you'll make actual change in the lives of the populations who are suffering the most -- before they give up and form their own societies, or "gangs", as you call them.
- Early intervention resources must be flexible enough to meet kids needs when they occur. Affordable housing is a huge issue, esp. for single parents. We need to do whatever we can do to keep families with children STABLE.
- Youth mental health counseling
- Throwing money at programs won’t help
- Restorative Justice instead of jail. Once in jail, no other choices for most young men.
- Community conversations and connections
• Engagement of youth before they join gangs
• Stop putting it all on the schools. We can educate them to the best of our ability, but once they leave us, we are sending them into an economy that doesn't need them. It's not hard to imagine why selling meth or heroin for a couple of hours a day is preferable to working at the local fast food chain.
• A 10-year guaranteed livable minimum income for all Tacomans would greatly reduce these issues. Money is the antidote to poverty. Poverty is man-made, oppressive, and destroys human potential.
• Stop allowing offenders out on bail
• Enhanced/Gang Focused (read: Increased Budget) law enforcement.
• Direct financial support to at-risk families
• Create legitimacy and allow communities to turn into social clubs/community programs like capoeira clubs, steel drum bands, and other social and economic groups with histories rooted in criminal activity and violence and secrecy.

Residents were asked to rate their level of satisfaction/dissatisfaction with the current response to gangs. Over half (60.6%) reported that they are neither satisfied or dissatisfied. About one in ten respondents (11.9%) reported that they are satisfied or very satisfied with the current response. About one fourth of respondents (27.6%) reported that they are dissatisfied or very dissatisfied with the current response.

Respondents were asked to provide their reasons for satisfaction/dissatisfaction. Responses are summarized below:

- Law enforcement has their hands tied
- We don’t know what is being done to curb gang activity. It would be nice to know
- I have not seen any response to gangs by the City of Tacoma
- Police will not come to our neighborhood
- Any city that actively supports illegal immigration cannot be working against gangs
- Gang violence has decreased over the years, but the city still has a long way to go to solve the problem
- Gangs continue to be a big problem in my neighborhood
- I wish there was more active enforcement of gang activity in the southside and east side. We see regular criminal activity such as people casing homes, people stealing mail off porches, drug dealers in front of our local elementary school, and prostitutes on our street, with no police response
- A lot of homeless individuals are also involved in gangs and they seem to be everywhere lately
- We do not see gangs in our area
- The bureaucracy isn’t made up of people who understand homelessness, being criminalized, being disenfranchised, and watching your parents struggle to deal with these things. The city imagines gangs to be an illness, but it is only a symptom.
- We have an active drug house in our neighborhood. Why did police wait to respond until someone was shot there?
- We need to address systemic racism in Tacoma
- I live on the East Side, I feel and see a good police response to gang activities
- Too much emphasis by the city on development in the core, not enough on improving quality of life in neighborhoods
- It feels like gang activity is on the rise again, and we do not have enough police officers to patrol and control gang issues effectively
- Police department has shifted from community-oriented policing to code enforcement policing and creating revenue for the city by writing tickets
- Although gang violence has decreased in recent years, the systemic poverty has yet to be addressed as the root of the problem.

Residents were asked to identify ways that they would be willing to get involved to prevent gang issues in Tacoma. The top response was to participate in neighborhood watch (44.4%), volunteer with a local agency that works with youth (30.9%), and conduct neighborhood outreach (26.2%). One in five respondents (21.2%) reported that they do not know what they could do. One in five respondents (6%) stated that they were willing to do nothing.

- Family disruption (30%)

One other response was recorded:
- Top 3 is impossible and inauthentic to the issue at hand. None of these things are acceptable and they all exist in our city. There were 2 gang-related deaths near my home in the past 30 days, and my car was robbed. Would I rank the deaths over the robbery of my car? Yes, but neither create safe, livable neighborhoods.

While many community leaders seemed informed about at least one or two activities, a significant proportion also were either unaware of current activities or expressed that they were insufficient and/or limited.

Question: What can your program/agency/organization do better or differently to assist with local gang issues?

This question was also open-ended, and respondents could provide one or several answers. 24 respondents provided an answer to this question. These include:

- Offer more out of school time programs, including mentoring programs, for high school students
- Assist with organizing educational meetings, educate students on signs to look for when a friend has changed their behavior or is about to move out of the area. Keep students involved in positive activities with a sense of belonging.
- Have a job fair or something like help people get jobs to be stable and stop having to do illegal things
- Support the local police dept in anything they need our help with
- Call 911 - Do not turn a blind eye to domestic violence, and talk to neighbors about suspicious behavior
- Better outreach with more funding
- Partner with other youth serving agencies to better serve youth and families. Develop a unified vision for our community based on Positive Youth Development.
- We can provide mentoring to more young people if we had more financial support to do that!
- Expand out of school programming for youth - provide specific social and emotional skill development and connecting youth with mentors and role models.
- Hopefully the data from the survey can give an idea on where the needs/gaps are so that we can figure out how to support.
• We are currently working with young people to better their lives and keep them out of trouble.
• House more needy families with youth - house more homeless or near homeless youth and young adults without families. We will do that with our new Arlington Drive Youth Campus.
• Jobs, Culturally relevant programming, Opportunities
• Outreach, substance use disorder and mental health treatment and therapy. Coaching, support and work with them in their community.
• Pass more information to parents for prevention and safety
• Mentorship
• Build community capacity to help address issues. Give parents the tools, create opportunities for parents and youth to create positive support networks and social connections. You also need to support organizations that represent the communities they work in.
• Not sure, that is why we are waiting for this fact-based assessment to be completed.
• We can assist in analyzing trends, assessing research and convening and facilitating discussions. We can offer a systems perspective on how you introduce and sustain meaningful change.
• Help get youth/ young adults connected to services that can connect them with mentors, and programs to keep them busy that they have an interest in.
• Increase access to mentoring programs
• Our agency works with housing youth and young adults, 16 -24, who are experiencing homelessness. We would like to have more educational opportunities to learn about what role we can play in addressing the gang issue in the community.
• My agency provides programming in social emotional skill building using the arts. This programming is currently held at schools, afterschool, but it could be expanded to serve during summer and at more sites throughout Tacoma.

Hand signs (43%), gang activity on social media (43%), and involvement in shootings and other serious crimes (43%) were also common responses.

Question: In your opinion, what are the top three issues that keep young people in Tacoma involved in gangs?
Respondents were limited to three answers and were provided with a list of possible answers. They could also write in their own responses. The top choice by respondents (61%) was family/friends involved in the gang. About half (55%) selected “to feel loved/sense of belonging” and “power/respect” (50%). Other top responses included poverty (37%) and family problems (37%).

Other answers provided by respondents included:
- Fast money
- Drugs
- Once you are involved in gangs, you cannot get out.

Question: Of the individuals you regularly interact with in your program/agency, what percentage do you think are involved in gangs?
A little less than half of respondents (45%) reported that they believe that 20% or fewer of the individuals they regularly interact with are involved in gangs. One fifth of respondents (21%) reported that they believe that 20% to 40% of individuals they regularly interact with are involved in gangs.

About one tenth of respondents (11%) reported that they believe 40% to 60% of the individuals they regularly interact with in their program are involved in gangs. About one in six (16%) reported that they believe that the majority (60% to 100%) of individuals they serve are involved in gangs.
This suggests that while a small percentage of gang-involved individuals participate in available programming, a much smaller percentage of survey respondents work primarily with this population.

Question: What percentage of individuals that you serve are involved in the criminal or juvenile justice system?

Almost half of respondents (47%) reported that almost all (80% to 100%) are involved in the juvenile or adult justice system. This is partially explained by the fact that about one-third of respondents to this survey work for Pierce County Juvenile Court. However, another 8 individuals also reported working primarily with individuals involved in the juvenile or adult justice systems. One in six respondents reported that about half (between 40% and 60% of individuals that they serve) are involved in the justice system. About one-fourth of respondents (27%) reported that fewer than 20% of individuals that they serve have court involvement. Another 11% reported that they do not know if individuals they serve are involved in the court.

Question: What risk factors have you observed in the youth/young adults that you interact with through your job?

Respondents to this question (N=38) reported a high level of involvement in high risk behaviors/exposure to risk factors among the youth that they serve. On average, respondents reported 11 risk factors observed in the youth/young adults that they interact with through their job.

The most common responses were:
- Drug use (84%)
- Exposure to violence at home (82%)
- School behavior problems (79%)
- Alcohol use (76%)
- Parent is absent, addicted to substances, or in other ways unable to help the youth (76%)
- Exposure to violence in the community (74%)

It is notable that three-fourths of respondents reported that they serve youth with exposure to these risk factors.

More than half of respondents also reported that youth/young adults they serve are exposed to violence at school (52%) or are involved in sexual trafficking/prostitution. Almost half of respondents (45%) reported that individuals that they work with are involved in violent crime.

Respondents could also write in answers to this question. Write-in responses include:
- Lack of hope/purpose
- Sexual abuse

Question: Please pick the top three things that you think could be done to assist gang-involved individuals in Tacoma.

Survey respondents were limited to three answers and were provided with a list of possible responses. Respondents could also write-in their own answers.

Top responses included:
- Mentoring programs (58%)
- Youth recreation (50%)
- Jobs and job training programs (47%)
- Family assistance programs (42%)

Other write-in responses included:
- Free youth programming
- Relevant, effective treatment programs

Question: How satisfied are you with the current response to gangs in Tacoma?
Two-thirds of respondents (67%) reported that they are neither satisfied or dissatisfied with Tacoma’s current response to gangs. One in six (17%) reported that they are satisfied with the current response, and the same percentage (17%) reported that they are dissatisfied with the current response. No respondents reported that they are very satisfied or very dissatisfied.
Question: What do you think could be done differently or better to improve Tacoma’s current response to gangs?

This survey question was open-ended and asked respondents to write in their own answers.

Responses included:

- Involve more youth at the table who would like to leave the gang life so that they can provide a clear vision of what is needed
- Utilize ex-gang members with years of lived experience to do gang outreach
- Stop gentrification from pushing families out of communities by initiating policies for affordable rent
- Get the community more involved through positive interactions
- Decrease school suspensions and increase support for students in the schools
- More after-school programming and activities to keep youth involved and having fun
- Prevent youth from joining gang by offering services and support at an earlier age
- Offer more community involvement opportunities to youth and provide educational and personal growth opportunities to enable them to make better life choices and coping skills
- Provide a forum/support group where youth can be heard
- Increase mentorship programming
- Encourage gang members to turn in weapons without consequences
- Police department needs to stay tough with gang members and work with the community to identify issues of concern in neighborhoods
- Focus on mentors and increased collaboration with law enforcement
- More time/energy/money/resources should be allocated to the Pathways program through the Juvenile Court to allow personnel to go deeper with youth to work on prevention and rehabilitation.
- I would like us to do a better job of predicting which youth are most at-risk to join a gang so that we can provide family support and services to the youth to prevent involvement
- More prosocial outlets for youth
- More free recreation activities for youth
- Better relations between schools and agencies in Tacoma
- Gang outreach needs to better connect and communicate with juvenile probation
- More early intervention, once a youth is involved it is too late
- The courts and law enforcement need to work more closely to keep weapons out of the hands of children and youth
- More easily accessible education for program personnel that interact with gang-involved youth. We are coming from different backgrounds and may not have the same knowledge on the subject, which makes it difficult to recognize and respond appropriately when we work with a gang-involved youth
- More punishment for gang-involved individuals who commit crimes
- Tacoma would benefit for more services for gang-involved individuals
- Programs need to get away from “tough on offender” approaches and be more accessible to high risk youth

!Object 5.38 Top three problems that gangs present in Tacoma

The most common responses included violent crimes (90% of respondents) and weapon crimes (84%). There seems to be strong consensus among the respondents about gang involvement in these crimes as respondents were twice as likely to select these options compared to any other choice. Other answers provided by respondents include crimes related to the growth of the marijuana business in Washington, including gang members working at or owning marijuana shops, burglarizing them, and violent crimes.

Question: Please pick the top three things that you think could be done to assist gang-involved individuals in Tacoma
Survey respondents were limited to three or fewer responses to this question and could choose from a list of possible options or write in a custom response.

Top responses included:
- Court and criminal justice programs (47%)
- Gang outreach programs (42%)
- Mentoring programs (42%)
- More police protection (37%)

Question: How satisfied are you with the current response to gangs in Tacoma?
Most respondents (64%) expressed dissatisfaction with the current response to gangs, and over half (53%) reported that they are very unsatisfied with the current response to gangs. One quarter of respondents (26%) were neither satisfied or dissatisfied. About one in ten respondents (11%) were satisfied with the current response.
Question: what do you think could be done differently or better to improve the current response to gangs in Tacoma?
This survey question was open-ended. Many respondents focused on the role of Tacoma Police Department’s Gang Intelligence Unit, as well as the role of the court system and intervention services.

- Tacoma Police Department’s “Gang Unit” should aggressively and proactively collect intelligence on and investigate/enforce laws against criminal gang members.
- Start by increasing the deterrent to gang activity (more arrests), and then offer alternatives, especially for first-time offenders, such as court ordered job training, successful male mentors, attending church, victim panels, celebrate recovery, etc.
- Give Tacoma Police Department more staffing and resources to deal with gangs
- Assign more officers to the gang unit
- More proactive gang enforcement activities
- Allow police officers to do their job, including proactive efforts to reduce gang crime
- Collect and share information on gang members and more actively pursue criminal investigations on gang crimes
- The Tacoma Police Department Gang Unit was reduced and now consists of two officers and one sergeant, who have been assigned to Special Investigations Division (SID) for nearly two years. They are no longer in uniform, in patrol cars, contacting gang members, or responding to gang-related calls. There are very few (2-3) officers in the Tacoma Police Department who are formally trained in gang-related culture and activities, and they are on patrol, making the largest impact. The department needs a robust gang/violent crime unit with 6 to 8 proactive patrol officers who focus on various activities connected to gangs: burglaries (for weapons), controlled substances, firearms, human trafficking, promoting prostitution, etc.
- Establish a multiagency proactive gang task force that specifically targets the substantial gang problem in Tacoma
- More collaboration between law enforcement and other agencies, and a more structured system for prevention, intervention, and justice-involved individuals.
COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS
Several questions were structured for comparison across survey respondent groups.

Question: Top three reasons for gang activity in Tacoma
Respondent groups who were asked about this question include community residents, community leaders, agency personnel, public safety personnel and gang-involved individuals.

Gang-involved individuals were asked about their personal reasons for joining a gang. The top three responses were:

Top 3 reasons for joining a gang
1. To belong/for acceptance
2. A family member was in the gang
3. For protection/to feel safe
   - To make money

While most other groups of respondents identified poverty as a primary reason for gang involvement, this reason was not reported by gang-involved individuals, who focused more on lack of activities and social/emotional/family reasons for joining a gang. When gang-involved individuals were asked about their personal reasons for joining a gang, emotional/family reasons were the top ranked reasons, and “to make money” was the third-ranked choice. It should be noted that gang involved individuals also reported exceptionally high levels of trauma exposure related to personal victimization and family abuse/neglect.

Question: Top three things that should be done about gangs
This question was asked of community residents, leaders, agency personnel, public safety personnel, and gang-involved individuals. Mentoring was selected by four of five groups, as was youth programs/recreation. Jobs/job training programs were also selected by four of five groups.

Gang involved individuals were also asked what should be done to prevent younger youth from joining gangs. The top response was mentoring programs, followed by family programs and youth programs/activities/recreation. Gang involved individuals were also asked what might make them think about leaving the gang and what types of support would help with the transition out of gangs.

While employment was listed as the top support that would help individuals leave the gang, two of the top three reasons that individuals would think about leaving the gang were related to family, including family responsibilities (51.9%) and becoming a parent (22%). About one-third of gang-involved individuals reported that getting a job would make them think about leaving the gang.

Question: How satisfied are you with the current response to gangs?

Community residents, community leaders, agency personnel and public safety personnel were all asked this question. Public safety personnel were the most likely to report dissatisfaction (64%) with the current response. About one-fourth of community residents (28%) and community leaders (17%) are dissatisfied with the current response.

The most common response for community residents (61%), community leaders (52%) and agency personnel (67%) is that they are neither satisfied or dissatisfied with the current response to gangs. When community residents were asked about their reasons for satisfaction/dissatisfaction, the most common reason was that they do not know what is currently being done in Tacoma to respond to gangs. Public safety personnel were the most likely to express that they are dissatisfied (11%) or very dissatisfied (53%).
